This proposal is ridiculous. The whole point of a national forest is that it belongs to all of America. You put the decisions in local hands and they are just going to slant everything to their own benefit. Why even bother to continue having national forests? Why not just sell them off to the highest local bidder? It sounds like that's what your proposal really is accomplishing. The Montana Dept of Agriculture is already trying to kill all the bison here. Seriously America, this proposal passes and Yellowstone Park will be a whole new place. And this will just be the beginning of some people here already want to bring to the park. They also want to be able to bring their guns so they can shoot animals (they believe hunting in national parks should be allowed). People here think guns and bars mix, and so do hunting and endangered species. You are just going to open a floodgate of stupidity with this proposal. Way to go US Forest Service-I would call this a FAIL. Epic, even.
