This is nothing more than a Land Grab by the government, stealing what belongs to the American People.

No one is intentionally going out to destroy our national resources, granted there are some individuals who do not use what little common sense they have when they visit our lands, A prime example of that is our NF Camp Grounds, they are often left in dis array with litter, but I don't hear to many cries to shut them down & return them to their natural order.

Cutting off access to our public lands hurts us all, recreation will diminish which will only further to hurt the economy, access to fight wild land fires will be severely decreased, access for Emergency personnel will be diminished & any rescue efforts for people in peril will be limited to costly ground search & rescue efforts & VERY costly aerial S & R.

If the American people are denied access to our public lands & are expected to park their vehicles on the side of the road, while they go off to explore & enjoy our resources, whats to prevent someone from vandalizing or stealing their vehicle or property while they are off enjoying our lands?

To often the actions of a few or a minority lead to Decisions & Laws that effect the vast majority of the American people, this applies to a great many things in this country from Public lands use to Gun Control.

What happened to the Majority Rule??

Have we gone from a Free Country & a Democracy to A Country governed by a Few Learned Individuals who know whats best for us all?

In short We are The American People & we do not like more Government, This a cut & dry case of TO MUCH Government.
