Comments

comments oneis statement volume - i will send in further comments either below or in another memo on the appendices volume summary - "sustainable communities" need to support themselves, not keep hacking away at naional land. they do not own this land just because it is near them. the national public owns national land. that means they own 1/300,000,000 or so of it for each person in that "community". to let these nearby communities take over national land is wrong, clearly wrong. they need to stop relying on big bucks from timber cutting. this is national land responsible to all 300,000,000 of us. local communities are lucky to have such land near them and they need to be grateful for that benefit. but they should not ask for the forest to be cut and decimated so they can get big bucks. they are simply not entitled.

i also question the selection of sites for "roundtables" - were they selected more for vacation purposes of staff?

climate change (iii) should be part of regulations. 99% of scientists say its happening. it is only oil/coal polluters who are paying millions to tell stupid people to ignore it.

multiple use - i agree that the focus should be on maintaining healhy forest ecosystems. nothing else!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

the livestock grazers are the profiteer takers who run the system for their own economic benefit and envrinhment. that should not be allowed to continue since such grazing is environmental destructive, these profiteers leave the land in desperate degraded condition, and these agribusiness giants pay cheap cheap rates to destroy land that belongs to all 3j00,000,000 of us.

pg 3 - the usda strategic plan is not the fs plan and is negative in its effects on the fs plan. usda is all about profiteering for agribusiness, plain and simple - that is all they focus on. usda spits on the rest of the population, giving us inhumane factory farms, cruddy food that is getting worse all of the time, hiding Frankenfood labels, etc. usda mission bears no resemblance at all to the mission of the fs.,.

add the word "all" below to the phrase that seays "provide benefits to all the american public. livestock grazing is of no benefit to all the american people and is just for the rich privileged cattle ranch profiteers.

pg 6 - i like the 1982 rule. it give the public the importance it deserves and which it should have in a democracy. later rules gave fat cat bureaucrats all they needed to emasculate the public voice.

pg 9 - the regional meetings were selected to freeze out the east coast viewpoint. only 1 of 33 regional meetings was held and that was in atlanta ga. 32 of the 33 were held in western states. so we pay out high tazes here in the east, band get no voice being heard in these reigonal meetings? this schedule effective unbalanced a national voice and analyzed ocmments only from western folks. this was unbalanced totally. i think it was a deliberate attempt to skew the voice of the people and avoid hearing from environmental voices. this negates the plan as far as i can see this division made it unbalanced and unbelievable as to public comment.

pg 57 - disturbance naturally is one thing. disturbance from mankind;s greed and selfishness has been overwhelming. it is fs job to turn that back, not facillitate selfishiness and greed. i charge that fs has in fact exaggerated the capacity of the land, rather than protected it. you have caused degradation. we would be better off with the wild horses on the land than the endless amount of grazing by livestock you have allowed. the wild horses do not exacerbate the land like livestock does. too much utilization has been allowed.

pg 65 - restoration to what grew somewhere in 1917 makes no sense in 2011 since climate is changing everything. species are moving northward. the amount of sun to earth is diminishing. some species will not flourish in any location where they used to grow.
